Cupid and Mammon.

[New York Correspondence Chicago Tribune.] The failure of one of the Savings Banks was brought about by a woman -a gay dashing widow. This woman, a couple of years ago, captivated the heart of one of the most prominent memters of the Ring, who, albeit he had a wife and family, lavished upon her thous ds of dollars of the plunder he obtained from the City and County Treasuries. In the munificence of his expenditures upon this fair but frail beanty, he endeavored to rival the notorious Jim Fisk in his attentions to the Mansfield, but sought to avoid the publie scandal which attached to that indisvidual. Among other things he gave his gay widow an elegant brown-stoneand here he used to give elegant suppers-not to say orgies-to his friends. But this festive woman had an eye to the main chance, and during her two years lutimacy with this Ring speculator, she accumulated nearly $100,000, which she deposited in the savings bank of which her paramour was a Director When the Reformers pressed the Ring thieves to the wall, and the latter commenced putting their property out of their hands, the widow got alarmed for the safety of her deposit, and, one bright morning, drove down to the bank in her coupe, and drew out her $100,000. This was a heavy drain on " available assets," and next day the bank closed. It is now in the hands of a receiver, and the prospect is that the depositors will receive about lifty or sixty cents on the dollar. But the gay mistress of the Ring thief obtained dollar for dollar, and returned ing. Mill street. Orders relicited.
